1. Network meetings

1.1. Spain

In Spain, on June 18, 2020, the University of Jaén and ASEIS, held a meeting with different public and private entities to start a collaborative and networking with the aim of creating a Protocol of Collaboration.

The protocol will promote a comprehensive intervention with victims of sexual and gender-based violence (SGBV), vulnerable people, migrants and refugees in Spain.

This was the first of three planned meetings. In this first meeting the work objectives were shared, the realities of each institution were presented and a database of useful resources in the work with migrants was shared. Special emphasis was placed on learning about the social, legal and health care pathways suffered by victims of sexual and gender-based violence among migrants.

In Spain a total of 21 representatives from different entities participated; 13 from the public sphere and 8 from the private sphere.

1.2. Italy

In Italy, Oxfam Italia Intercultura, Alice Cooperativa Sociale, and Centro Salute Global organized the network meeting that was held online on September 3, 2020 for 2 hours, with the presence of 21 representatives (11 representatives of regional authorities and the regional public health system, and 10 from civil society organizations working with RM victims/at risk of violence).

1.3. Greece

In Greece, Generation 2.0 and KMOP organized the first online networking meeting on September 18, 2020, with key organizations working in the field of migrant health service delivery.

Participants discussed the content of the proposed Protocol of Collaboration and its actual implementation. Second and third online networking meetings, with the legal and social services sectors, are scheduled for October 9, 2020.

At the health sector networking meeting on 9/18/20, they had 12 participants: 1 from a public entity and 11 from private entities. The next network meetings are going to be organized on October 9, 2020.

After collecting the different reactions of the three sectors (public and private entities and community representatives), Generation 2.0 and KMOP will soon present, during an online event, a Protocol of Collaboration in which some recommendations and best practices regarding the management of cases of sexual and gender violence in Greece will be proposed.

2. Face-to-face course

“Prevention and response to sexual and gender-based violence in the context of migration”

2.1. Face-to-face course in Italy

In Italy, the Net-Care course for cultural mediators aims to train staff to identify and support victims of gender-based violence in the context of migration, in order to collaborate with services, institutions and organizations working with migrants and refugees (especially women and children) who are victims of gender-based violence. The course is organized by the Center for Global Health of the Tuscany Region in collaboration with Oxfam Italy Intercultura and Alice soc. coop. The course will last 25 hours.

The other one the course has two editions: one in Arezzo, and the other in Florence. To enable the participation of 60 cultural mediators throughout the region.

The training includes a certificate of participation until its completion. It is promoted among competent authorities at local and regional level in order to train competent staff in the field of prevention of gender violence for the support of Codice Rosa, anti-violence centers, shelters and reference services.

In Italy, in the cities of Arezzo and Florence, the Net-Care course started on September 24th. Its objective was: identification and care of victims of gender violence in the context of migration.

The classrooms have been proposed in accordance with national and regional standards for the prevention of Covid19, and may be subject to changes that will be promptly communicated by the organization.

In Italy the course was very participatory: everyone contributed thanks to their background and solid experiences in working with migrant and refugee populations. They expressed a desire to improve their working tools, especially in relation to referral procedures, in order to work closely with the services responsible for the protection of victims of sexual and gender-based violence.

The social technicians also shared the need to receive more information on stress management, stress associated with this delicate work of contacting migrant and refugee survivors.

5. Steering Committee Meetings

5.1 Steering Committee Meetings

During May 18th and July 31st, a meeting with the different partners that belong to the steering committee of the NET-CARE project was held online. In this meeting several topics were discussed, among which the organization of the online training that will take place in September (contents, translations, questions, etc.) in order to prepare carefully all the courses for the scheduled date. Other issues addressed were the project's financial report, the time sheet, etc., reports that have been affected by COVID19 and therefore adapted to the current health situation.

6. European Researchers' Night

6.1 European Researchers' Night

The European Researchers' Night is the European event of scientific popularization that takes place simultaneously in approximately 300 cities of 24 European and neighboring countries.

The UJA team, together with ASEIS, coordinates the proposal of activities to be carried out in the Researchers' Night, scheduled for November 27th in the Spanish town of Jaén, if the current health situation allows it.

The activity is aimed at families, especially minors and young people, with the aim of promoting reflection on migration, asylum seekers and VSG.

7.Actions for adaptation to COVID-19

Due to the current health situation and the consequences of COVID-19, certain partners have promoted a series of adaptations in order to improve the quality of life, in this case, of migrant women.
